

To Whom it May Concern:

I have worked with Ramon Melicio and associates of his company, LinkTech, since joining Penske Truck Leasing Co. in May of 2003.

My role with Penske Truck Leasing Co. is the Facility Planner for our Corporate Headquarters in Green Hills, PA. Here at Green Hills, we currently occupy 435K sq. ft. of office space of which at least 80% has been renovated during my tenure with the company. Ramon and his team have been part of all of these renovations.

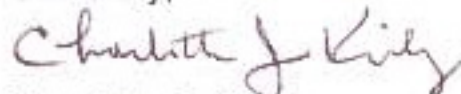

At the time I first joined Penske, Linktech was first responsible for only our data wiring needs with us contracting to a separate entity for telecommunication wiring. Linktech's team often provided support and assistance to the single support telecommunication person. When circumstance forced us to seek a new installer for our telecommunication wiring, we instinctively looked first to Linktech to provide this additional service to us going forward. Without reservation, Ramon and his team stepped forward to fill this need. This has proved to be an efficient move on our part to combine both activities in one contractor economically as well as logistically.

In efforts to make Penske Facility Planning more efficient, together we have developed some simple but effective methods of communication and documentation that serves us today as well as going forward in our projects here at Green Hills. Of our own admission, Penske Truck Leasing is a demanding company for high standards and high expectations from its contractors. Linktech has always met or exceeded our expectations even with short notice or change of plan. Whether it is weekends, after hours work, or working with other contracted principals, Ramon and his team have always rose to accommodate our requirements and meet and respect our associates' needs. I cannot stress enough the willingness and accommodating nature of Ramon and his team as well as their competency in their field of expertise. They have always come through for us on anything we have asked of them contributing to Penske's success on numerous projects.

For the reasons above and more too numerous to mention, I can highly recommend Ramon and his team for any tasks provided within the realm of Linktech's expertise both professionally and personally.

If you have any further questions with regard to my experience with Linktech's performance or qualifications, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,
